A horizontal sequence of 20 dark gray squares arranged in five rows of four. The second square from the left in the first row contains a small vertical white line.

The image consists of six horizontal rows of black squares of varying widths. The first row has 15 squares. The second row has 14 squares. The third row has 20 squares. The fourth row has 19 squares. The fifth row has 18 squares. The sixth row has 17 squares. This pattern of alternating row lengths creates a visual representation of a digital signal or a sequence of binary data.
